Giant Election Rally At Noon in Ballroom

All Candidates To Present Platforms

A gigantic election rally will be held today in the Union Ballroom at 1 p.m. All candidates for the coming campus elections have been invited to present their platforms and meet the students at this time.

This will be the only chance for most of the students to meet the candidates contesting the various posts before the voting begins tomorrow morning. For this reason all students who are going to vote in the coming elections (and this we hope means all students) should attend the meeting.

The candidates have been asked to make speeches at the rally outlining their platforms to the student body to acquaint them with their sides of what the various points entail. It is emphasized that as candidates for all the posts on the campus will attend and that this will be the only rally held for this year's elections. As the co-eds vying for positions have already had a rally they will not be present but all girls should attend as they can vote for some male contestants, for example for the president of the students society.

All graduate nurses, physiotherapists, and second year medical students vote in an advance poll today. Permission has been granted for this poll by the chief returning officer because many of these students are at the hospitals, or in the district.

Medical students are to vote in the Pathology Building; nurses and physiotherapists in Beatty Hall, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. After campaigning with a variety of colorful posters distributed all over the Dawson campus, the candidates for the positions of President of the S.E.C., President of the McGill Union, and the athletic representative to the S.A.C., presented their programs to the Dawsonites last night, in theatre one, in addition to the presence of several candidates who secured office by acclamation.

With Dave MacKenzie, Chief Returning Officer, presiding, the first speakers were the candidates for the presidency of the Union, namely Jim Cartier, Mike Piers, and Camille Dionne. These were followed by the candidates for the presidency of the S.E.C. The first of these, Boris Gardovsky, was introduced by Bob Taylor, while Isadore Rosenfeld was presented by John Newman.

The last speakers of the evening were Ham Quinn and Skip Sheldon, who were seeking election for the S.A.C. athletic representative.

'Universities Need Nation's Confidence' Says Wallace

"Canadian universities are institutions which deserve the complete confidence of the nation," stated Dr. R. C. Wallace, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Queen's University, in a speech given before a regular meeting of the Canadian Club of Montreal yesterday noon in the Windsor Hotel.

"All professions and a great number of vocations require trained men and women, and the university is in the majority of cases, the only place where such training can be obtained," Dr. Wallace said. "If the university were removed from modern civilization, the structure of our society would be shattered."

"Canadian universities produce 628 medical men, 1,007 engineers, 77 dentists, 200 agriculturalists, 238 men with degrees in commerce or business, and 4,411 with arts degrees each year. Few are not absorbed into Canadian life. Even the small percentage who settle abroad serve a useful function, for they act as front-line ambassadors of good-will. Their service is as great as that of those who remain."

Dr. Wallace, who has had forty years of experience in university administration, outlined the financial problem which Canadian universities are now facing. Salaries have necessarily been raised substantially in the last ten years, but they still fall behind increasing living costs. Labor and material costs have risen. Interest on endowments has decreased. Governments have seen to it that there

Daily Policy Round-Table To-day

All staffers of junior staff writer rank and above in all departments are requested to attend a meeting in the New Room of the Union at 4 p.m. today.

This will be the final round table discussion of policy before the final issue. The last of weekly meetings will be held the following Tuesday.

It is particularly important that all staffers attend this meeting to discuss many matters concerning the operation of The Daily next year. Also final plans for the banquet and party to be held Wednesday evening will be outlined.

The banquet begins at 7.30 p.m. sharp. Guest speaker will be Stu Keate, Montreal bureau chief of Time magazine. Promotions and awards will be discussed at today's meeting but announcement of all promotions will not be made before the banquet.

Following the banquet each department will present a skit at the party in the Reading Room. Tickets are now available in the newsroom between 1 and 2 p.m.

Daily Banquet

Daily staffers in all departments are reminded to obtain their invitations to the forthcoming Daily Banquet being held tomorrow evening in the Union.

Staffers may obtain these invitations from News Editor Arnold Lowery between 1 and 2 p.m. in The Daily's news office today and tomorrow.

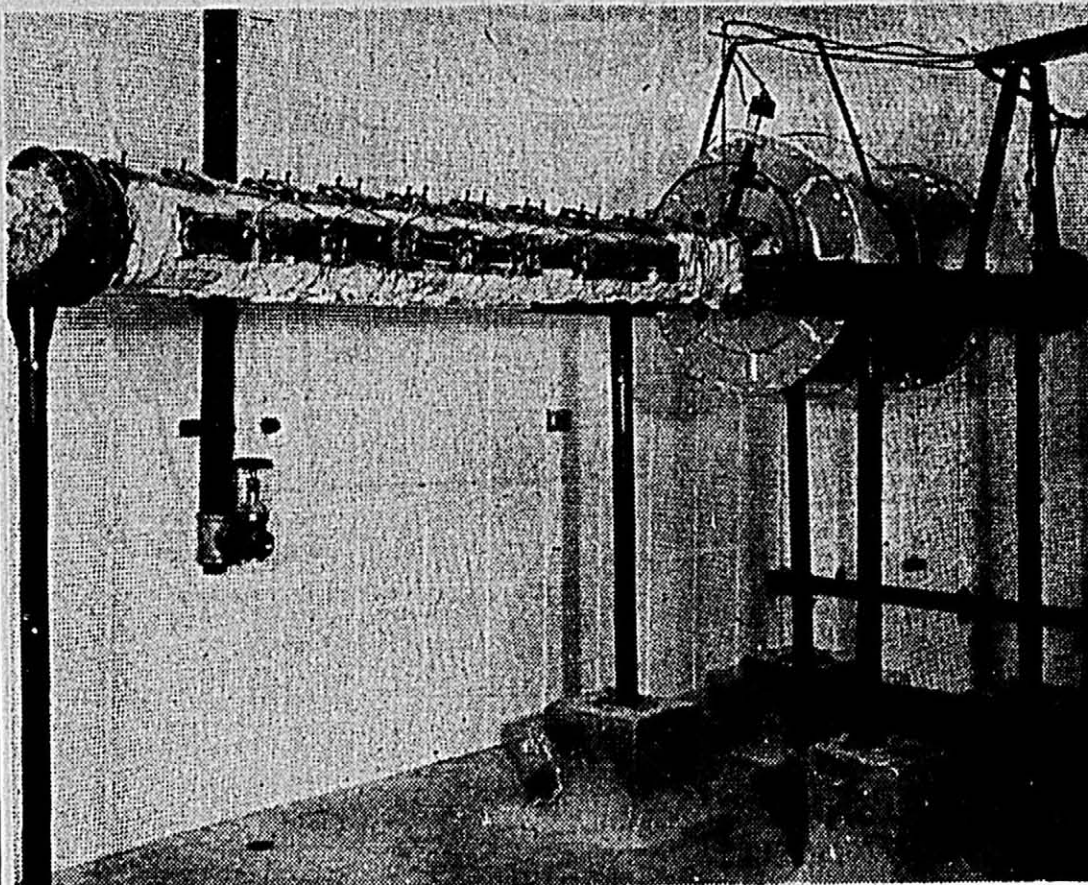

As admission to this banquet is by invitation only, guests will avoid any possible embarrassing situations by obtaining their invitations at the above mentioned time and place.

A regular Daily Party will be held in the Reading room immediately after the banquet. Donation of awards, dancing, refreshments and entertainment will make up the party's program.

Rutherford Prize

The University Scholarship committee has announced the J. M. Rutherford Memorial Prize. This is offered annually for some original work or study undertaken by a student of the university on his own initiative, preferably outside the regular work of his or her degree.

Applications or nominations must reach the Registrar's office not later than April 1st.

THIS IS THE NUCLEUS OF PRESENT EXPERIMENTS at the Gas Dynamics Lab., Macdonald College. It is the first soundproof, fireproof laboratory cell in operation. The large metal container on the right operates as a smoothing tank from which the stream is put through the combustion chamber (the pipe like device on the left). Fuel is injected into the combustion chamber and the action of combustion may be noted through the glass apparatus in the side of the chamber.

Workshop Elects New Executive

Arthur Garmaise was appointed president of The McGill Radio Workshop, it was announced yesterday by Irwin Brodie, retiring president. Milton Winston, Bill Shatner, Estelle Mendelsohn, Joan Noseworthy, George Loukides, and Don Allen will fill the positions of first Vice-president and Workshop representative, to the Radio Committee, second vice-president and production, NFUS Radio Representative, secretary, treasurer and publicity, respectively.

This year the Radio Workshop has participated in four live-radio shows over station CJAD. Christopher Ellis, well-known CBM producer, has been in charge of these shows and several other non-professional groups. He has chosen the Radio Workshop's presentations at the best he has been associated with. Stan Mann's original radio script was the best production of the year.

The Radio Workshop also produces the McGill Show over station CFCE, from 3.45 to 4.00 p.m. every Sunday. The McGill Show is the liaison between radio McGill and the Montreal listening audience. These cells are one story structures

MacDonald College Scene Of Gas Turbine Experiments

By JIM ROBB

There's probably a gas turbine engine in your future. This type of engine is particularly useful in the Canadian scene because it is one of the few adapted, to cold weather, its efficiency increasing under freezing conditions.

Those are the views of Associate Professor Donald L. Mordell director of McGill's newly created gas dynamics laboratory at Macdonald college. However Professor Mordell stresses the fact that there is more to the gas turbine engine than the present interest to aviation, with the burning of other types of fuel he hopes to bring about application to many fields of motive power. For example, he sees possibilities of coalburning gas turbine engines finding a place on future locomotives.

Actual conversion of the Drill Hall has taken the form of a building program within the confines of the larger structure. On one side of the Drill Hall offices, storerooms, and a workshop have been constructed, while on the other side of the large Drill Floor is the first of several Experimental Cells. These cells are one story structures of heavy cement blocks. Inside they are divided into two labs. In the present Cell only one of these labs is at present in operation.

The lab is again divided into two fireproof and soundproof rooms separated by heavy firewalls. These are no more than ordinary precautions as the danger of fire, while not great is always present when working with various inflammable fuels at high temperatures.

For present experiments necessary air is picked up by a supercharger driven by a modified Merlin engine and is forced through pipes into the other division of the lab, called the "working cell." Here fuel is injected into the air stream in two places, first to heat the fuel, secondly to begin combustion. This fuel is brought into the lab from several large tanks outside the building through an intricate system of valves and cut-offs. This system has two purposes. It allows several different types of fuels to be used, and it is an added precaution against fire.

The heated air proceeds into a

Brave Male Penetrates RVC Iron Curtain

By DON ALLEN

Thousands said we wouldn't do it but we did. We went right through the Royal Victoria College, women's residence of McGill University.

It was the middle of the morning as we walked up the front steps of the College. Reaching the door we glanced back at the stately statue of the Queen. As is her custom, she was looking the other way, but even she probably expected this reporter to leave faster than he had entered.

From the Information Desk we were sent to the Administrative Offices. Our first impression of the College was that it looked like almost any other building of the University: notice boards cluttered with election posters and athletic programmes, copies of The Daily stacked on a conveniently-located table, corridors subdividing into countless passage ways, and Administrative Offices humming with activity.

Miss Marie Madeleine Mottola, assistant warden, welcomed us to the College and said that she herself would take us on a sight-seeing tour. For nearly an hour we wandered through the endless corridors and winding staircases of R.V.C.

Most of the girls were at lectures but the few we did see paid no attention to us and went right on with whatever they were doing. One was in the infirmary, a few were reading in the library, others wandered about the corridors, but generally speaking, girls were conspicuous by their absence.

Friendly Efficiency We went through the lounges and common rooms, dining hall and cafeteria, the gym, the medical offices and isolation ward, and even a part of the residential section! In the kitchens and cold-storage rooms was food for hundreds. Everywhere was an atmosphere of friendly efficiency.

ents are quite small but there is ample cupboard space and skis, trunks, and other bulky objects can be stored elsewhere. The girls supply curtains and bedspreads which lend a home-like atmosphere. In one room a large panda bear, staring wide-eyed at us from atop a bookcase, made us very aware that we weren't out at Dawson.

We were shown the little kitchens conveniently located in the residence section, where the girls are able to prepare a snack between meals. A large kettle is always ready for those who want to make tea.

The lounges are well lighted and attractively furnished, but were unoccupied at that hour of the morning. "If you'd like to meet the kids why not come back this evening and have coffee with us," suggested Miss Mottola. "I'll see that someone meets you at the Information Desk."

We lingered for a minute to ex-

Model Parliament to Debate North Atlantic Pact Bill

Specialization at Columbia Is 'Journalistic Objective'

By FRANCES HOLLAND

The educational formula that would provide highly specialized training, but thorough grounding in humanities is the essential philosophy of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism, the most renowned school of its kind. This is the legacy which the school inherited from its founder the late Joseph Pulitzer. Upon the principles which he espoused and with endowments provided by his will the School of Journalism began instruction at Columbia University in the autumn of 1912.

The objectives of the school are best expressed in the college calendar which states: "Education for journalism at Columbia has, for its primary goal, the making of reporters — men and women who know how to observe, listen, record, and interpret the facts and events of each day's life. Without the reporter's constant vigil there is no profession of journalism and there is no adequately informed public."

Only sixty-five out of nearly four hundred applicants are accepted each year for the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. At the present time the enrollment has a very large percentage of veteran students.

Instruction is carried out according to a regular newspaperman's working week, and the standard discipline and procedures of a newspaper office provide the school with its operating schedule. An intensive program is carried out in the one year graduate course.

Throughout the week the student's time is occupied, and there are occasional night assignments. From their very first day at the school they are engaged in writing, reporting, editing, interviewing, research, and other activities similar in scope and form to their work as a professional journalist. They are taught by men who are not only teachers, but currently practicing journalists of long experience.

A strong point of the school is that there are only four or five full time instructors at the school, stated Professor Richard T. Baker, Associate Professor of Journalism, in an interview with The Daily. The remainder of the instruction is done by permanent newspapermen. The full time staff co-ordinate the work done by these outside journalists.

"The whole curriculum is just as much as you can make it a realistic one," said Professor Baker. "Reporting is done of real live events just like a newspaper."

New York being a great news and communications centre, it provides an excellent locale for the study of journalism. No other city has such talent available for teaching and lecturing; and there is an excellent opportunity for the student to observe and learn, as he comes in contact with so many skilled editors and writers.

The school stresses news, and editorial curricula, and around this nucleus are arranged other studies which introduce the student to developments in the related fields of magazine, radio, television, and pictorial journalism. The newsroom, where students spend much of their time, has teletype printers of all the major press services, a radio broadcasting connection with amplifiers, and a motion-picture projector and screen. The school also has press privileges at the United Nations Headquarters at Lake Success.

Professor Baker pointed out that in addition to this training, the entire student body, in the Spring, goes out in groups to gain experience by putting out one full edition of certain suburban area newspapers such as: the Nyack Journal-News, the Tarrytown News, the Peekskill Evening Star, and the Kingston Freeman.

This Columbia course in Journalism leads to degree of Master of Science. Professor Baker explained that the Science degree was awarded because the School of Journalism is a professional trades school in the University, and not one of the Arts curricula and therefore it led to the degree of Master of Science.

There is no quota for Canadian students; and since no Canadian university gives graduate instruction in Journalism, there is consequently a large number of Canadians who apply. This year's class contains four Canadians, from Montreal, Toronto, Belleville, and New Brunswick. They have had others from Alberta and some from British Columbia. Amongst the ex-Daily staffers who have attended this school are Dusty Vineberg, Betty Siegler, and May Ebbitt who is at the present time working on the Montreal Standard.

Professor Baker added that they like to have students from other parts of the world because it gives the class a cosmopolitan accent. The school has quite a tradition for training journalists from all over the world.

Applications to the Columbia School of Journalism must be submitted after January 1 of the year in which admission is sought. To be admitted to the School an applicant must hold a Bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university.

Daily Stops Publication On Thursday

The Daily will cease publication this week for the current academic year when the final issue will come out on the morning of Thursday, March 2nd.

Deadline for all material for Thursday's issue of The Daily has been set at 11 a.m. Wednesday. The staff on duty that day will be working against an early deadline so that no publicity material can be accepted at the Daily office after this time.

Publicity agents are reminded that all material should be typed, double-spaced, with the phone numbers of the publicity representatives and the head of the organization at the bottom of the sheet. A few organizations are still not placing items for Coming Events in the Daily mailbox by the Central Ticket Wicket. Items placed elsewhere have not been accepted.

Liberals to Be Opposed By Socialists

With the usual pomp and ceremony the Liberal government of this last Model Parliament of the year will tonight present a bill dealing with the Atlantic Pact and international law. They will be opposed by the CCF party acting as His Majesty's Loyal Opposition. Both the Socialists and the Conservatives will present amendments to the government bill.

It will be recalled that in the last Parliament the bill proposed by the LPP was passed. This bill dealt with current Canadian domestic issues and was hotly contested by all the opposition parties with the exception of the CCF.

The Liberal bill is said to imply a surrender of sovereignty by the signatory nations to a world court with arbitrary jurisdiction and this, many feel, has tended to render it ineffectual.

Although this court is to be initiated among the Atlantic Pact nations, any member of the United Nations consenting to be governed by its terms shall be eligible for membership.

Another important feature of the court is that citizens of member nations will have direct access to its proceedings in matters to be covered by a charter of individual rights.

Liberal Bill . . . Draft WHEREAS: The Atlantic Pact, uniting people of common conceptions of Law and Justice, is an instrument of immense possibilities for peaceful experiment in World Order;

And Whereas: The defects inherent in the purely optional jurisdiction of the Permanent court of Int. Peace make it less than the instrument for peace and international order that it was intended to be;

and Whereas: the dividing line between East and West extends to different conceptions of the blinding force of law.

Therefore: Be it resolved that this house instruct the Canadian delegate to the next meeting of the Atlantic Pact countries to move FOR:

(1) A conference to establish an international court whose judgement would have binding effect upon the participating states.

(2) The establishment at this conference of a Charter to protect a defined standard of individual rights throughout the Atlantic community. And that individuals be accorded access to this court to obtain effective remedies for enforcement of their rights without regard to the sovereignty of their state.

(3) That access to this court be extended to any member of the United Nations consenting to be bound by the terms of its establishment.

The CCF as His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, will present the following amendment:

1. Delete the third "whereas" in preamble completely.

2. Change instruction following "therefore" to read: "Be it resolved that this House instruct the Canadian delegate to the U.N. to introduce for discussion a motion to amend the constitution such that . . ."

Delete clauses 1, 2 and 3, and substitute:

1. Its judgments will have binding effect upon the participating states.

2. That individuals be accorded access to this court to obtain effective remedies for the enforcement of their rights as put forth in the U.N. Bill of Rights not withstanding sovereign rights over them.

The Conservative amendment is as follows:

Delete clause 3.

The cabinet announced by Prime Minister Des Thomas will be comprised as follows — External Affairs — Dave McLean, Transport — Duncan Fraser, Justice — Chuck Taylor, Labor — June Marler, Defence — John Piper, Trade and Commerce — Ian Clarke, Public Works — Frank Hughes, Immigration — Howard Grafferty, Finance — Charles McHale. The Minister for External Affairs will introduce the bill and the Prime Minister will close for The Government.

The speaker will be Isadore Rosenfeld.

For President, Students' Society

Boris Gardovsky
PEN SKETCH

To adjudge a nominee for an executive position, we quite often base our judgment on the positions he holds. This is not enough. To judge properly we must see whether or not he has shown ability while holding those positions. Boris Gardovsky, in the last three years has proven conclusively his ability to organize, to administer, and to handle responsibility. The Freshman Reception, which is on for two weeks, requires months of preparation. Boris, as Vice-Chairman, devoted two to three nights a week for four months to assure it of success. In direct charge of the seven dances, the carnival picnic, and publicity, he coordinated the efforts of over twenty people to bring these functions out. Elected last fall to the position of Vice-President of the Union, Boris was instrumental in generally improving the facilities and in setting up a smoothly running Dates Committee of which he is chairman. At Dawson College last year, Boris assumed the responsibility of turning the Weekly from weekly bulletin into a campus paper. After months of work, he accomplished it largely because he was able to draw students to work on the paper. Beginning with five, the staff at the end of the year numbered over thirty regulars. Last year, as Vice-President of the Dawson Students' Council, he assisted in cutting the debt by $500 and still helped provide an average year.

Engineering representative on McGill Council he has also been close touch with the problems (Continued on page 4)

Isadore Rosenfeld
PEN SKETCH

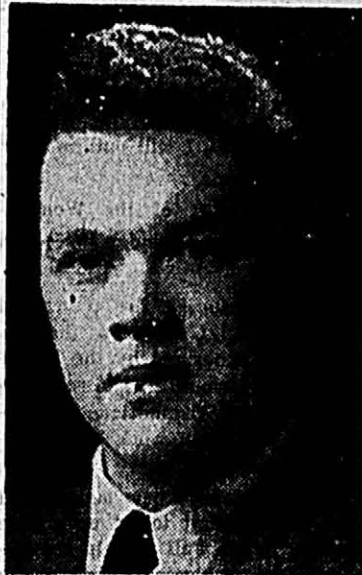

We recommend Isadore Rosenfeld as President of the Students' Society, convinced that he is not only outstandingly capable and well qualified for the position, but that he is the best available man on the campus today. Never having sought the limelight, his name is not as well-known as some. Those, however, who know him, and those who are in close contact with McGill affairs, will agree that his record speaks for itself.

As a debater he has a record without parallel at McGill. As president of the Debating Union Society for the two years from 1946 to 1948 he was responsible for its postwar reorganization. He has been victorious in 23 consecutive intercollegiate debates and was a member of the team that toured England last year. From 1946 to 1948 he served as secretary of the Medical Undergraduate Society, and in 1949 was elected representative from Medicine on the Students' Executive Council. For service rendered he has been awarded the Students' Society Gold and Silver Awards, and in 1948 received an honorary appointment to the Scarlet Key.

Recently elected vice-president of the Students' Society, Rosenfeld is familiar with the problems to be faced. We who are both familiar with them and with his ability to face them, without hesitation endorse this recommendation.

Jim Cartier
PEN SKETCH

During his three years at McGill and a year at Dawson College, Jim has shown himself to be both active and competent in the administration of student affairs.

Upon his discharge from the army at the end of the last war, he came to Dawson where he was captain and coach of the winning intramural basketball team. In his first year at McGill Jim took part in interfaculty debating, winning most of his debates, and last year won the interfaculty debating shield. This year he has been heard on the air in the student-professor forum.

At present Jim is the treasurer of the Arts and Science Undergrad. Society. His active interest in the workings of the entire society was not limited to routine affairs. He took complete charge of the New Year's Eve Party, and the finance and much of the organization of the Arena Wing.

It is because of his close association with the Union activities and his sincere interest and understanding of the problems and needs of the administration of the Union, that we, the undersigned, believe him to be the man best suited for the presidency of the Union.

PEN SKETCH

Camille Dionne was born and received his early training at St. Denis de Kamouraska, P.Q. In his early teens, he worked in the Nickel Mines of Northern Ontario where he was an active member of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. At the same time he completed his High School studies on his own through evening work. He was also a semi-professional hockey player.

A veteran of five and a half years in Royal Canadian Engineers, Camille was wounded twice in France. These wounds ended his hockey career. He entered McGill in 1946 and is now in his second year-law. Last summer he demonstrated his abilities as leader of the Beaver Brigade and Chairman of the Canadian delegation to the World Festival of Youth and Students in Budapest. There he met youth from eighty-four countries including Colonial lands. He returned to Canada convinced of the possibility and the necessity of world peace. Camille is a member of the McGill Peace Council and is the Treasurer of the newly formed Civil Liberties Group, which is fighting to repeal the padlock law.

His early struggles to acquire an education and his extensive organizational experience makes him in our opinion the most capable person for the Presidency of our Union.

Mike Peers has been active in Cheerleading, Athletics Nights, the Educational Committee, the Freshman Reception, and several other activities since coming to McGill.

This year he took over a non-existent McGill Band, whipped it into shape, and raised money on the campus to send it to Toronto. Recently, Mike was appointed Chairman of the Student Awards Banquet, with the task of effecting the amalgamation of the S.E.C. and S.A.C. banquets.

Mike has done a lot since coming to McGill, and everything he has done has been well done.

Fifty years ago McGill University was the only university in Canada with a students' union. At that time McGill students were proud of this fact, and the Union was regarded by all as a great asset. Now the Union has fallen into ill-repair and extensive renovations are necessary. The University authorities, the registered owners of the building, have steadfastly refused to maintain the building in good repair. The S.E.C., on the other hand, has never had enough money to effect major repairs.

The McGill Union belongs to the students and I would like to see more of them using it. This can only be done by the provision of more attractive facilities for the students.

PEN SKETCH

During her past year at McGill Joan was appointed to the Junior Prom Committee and sent to Toronto as an official delegate. She served on the Freshman Reception Committee and as a senior member of The Daily staff. Earlier activities included a leading role in a Players Club production ('48), organizing many events for Arts & Science and carrying an exceptionally heavy program of studies.

Through these activities it may well be said that Joan has learned how to organize activities and work with people. In addition to these assets we, the undersigned, feel her cheerful personality is well suited for the position of President of the Women's Union.

May I first take this opportunity to thank those responsible for my nomination and for their confidence in me. I can only hope that by working to the best of my ability and by concentrating all my time and effort upon this job, I would, if elected, be able to fulfill the position satisfactorily.

In co-operation with the present vice-president and other members of the executive I should like to work for the following:

1. A committee of girls with some paint and material can clean up the Arts Building Common Room if funds for a complete renovation are not forthcoming.
2. More publicity by working with the Daily to make the Women's Union as prominent on the campus as it should be.

PEN SKETCH

Peggy Pierce is well known to many women on the campus through her many activities, most of which were of an executive nature.

As President of the Red Wing Society, which is sponsored by the Women's Union, she has become well acquainted with Women's Union affairs. In this connection Peggy has gained invaluable experience in meeting people. While working on the Annual, she came to know the various campus clubs and their functions.

The position of President of the Women's Union is a responsible one, one which requires strict attention to detail. Peggy, from past performances, has proved that she has the necessary qualifications. Endowed with a fine sense of humour, and much patience, she is not easily defeated, and always sees her work through to the end. She is our choice for president.

Much Interest Centers on Presidency

A host of candidates for key positions in student government are rushing final campaign plans today in preparation for tomorrow's campus-wide voting.

There will be some 6,120 eligible voters, but if standards set within recent years hold, only about 60% of the electorate will vote.

Most interest has thus far been centered on the two-way race for the presidency of the Students' Society, top job in student self-administration. Vying for the post are Boris Gardavsky, third year engineering, and Isadore Rosenfeld, third year medicine.

Gardavsky and Rosenfeld, both of whom have had extensive experience in undergraduate affairs, have been campaigning extensively for the past week, via the columns of The Daily and through other media.

Other major posts to be filled Wednesday are the presidency of the McGill Union and the presidency of the Women's Union. Jim Cartier, Camille Dionne, and Mike Peers are candidates for the for-

Two two-way contests are set for men's and women's athletic posts. Ham Quain and Skip Sheldon have been nominated for the post of student representative to the Athletics Board while Mary Richardson and Roberta Tyler aspire to the office of president of the McGill Women Students' Athletic Association.

Contesting the office of secretary of the Women's Union are Claire Deschamps, Becky Fooks, and Anne Wyman.

Also to be filled Wednesday are several key jobs on various undergraduate societies.

Details of an election rally to be held at the Union today are listed elsewhere in this issue, as are all poll locations.

Ham is well known to McGill for his fine play both in basketball and squash. In his role as member one man in both these sports he has distinguished himself by winning many matches, and has brought much credit to the diversity. In the last two years he has also won the Dominion and provincial Junior Squash Championship, and was a former member of the Dominion Men's Junior Tennis doubles championship team.

This has given Ham an opportunity to meet and associate with many sporting groups throughout the University, and in many parts of the country.

He is entering first year law, and is a valuable Commerce background which will fit him for work on the budget and the financial control which the Athletics Board carries over all sports at McGill.

Becky, McGill's only import from Wilmington, Delaware has the type of personality which would add a great deal to any organization. Her ability to work with people, her qualities of co-operation and leadership have shown time and again that she is well fitted for such a responsible position as Secretary of the Women's Union.

A member of R.C.C.'s Fresh Reception Committee, a worker with various charitable organizations, coupled with a great interest and enthusiasm in student activities are high recommendations of her ability. If elected, we are confident that Becky will always work for the best interest of everyone.

St. John's, Nfld. - It is easy to tell what one of Newfoundland's main industries is. The forestry department reports there are some 1,600 sawmills in the province - as compared with 1,300 settlements. The mills produce 60,000,000 feet of lumber a year.

Anne Wyman
PEN SKETCH

Anne Wyman, a second year Arts student, is our choice for secretary of the Women's Union.

Coming to McGill from Boston, she has been very active on the campus. In her first year she gained valuable executive experience as co-chairman of the music and arts committee of Arts and Science. In April she was elected second year house representative in R.V.C. In this capacity she serves on the Leaves Committee and plays an important part in residence activities.

This year she is also one of the five members of the editorial board of Forge. Among her other activities have been the Coral Society, German Club, and M.O.C.

Anne combines enthusiasm with a strong sense of responsibility and her friendship is valued highly by all who know her. She has a good academic record and would give to the position more than the time and effort it requires.

Mary Richardson
PEN SKETCH

Mary Richardson, now in Third Year of Physical Education, hails from Victoria, B.C. While at Victoria College, she was President of Women's Athletics and this year, in her second year at McGill, she has served faithfully and well as Secretary of the MWSAA. Thus it is easy to see that she is most familiar with work of this kind. Herself a keen athlete, "Rich" has been playing on the Intercity Basketball Team and the Hockey Team since she arrived. She is also Canada's youngest National Basketball Official.

"Rich" has a personality extremely well-suited to the office of President. Her ready spirit of co-operation and her keen will to "get things done" will greatly benefit the women of McGill. When Mary Richardson takes on a job, she gives it her all—her untiring drive makes a sure success of it.

So when the day comes to vote, DO VOTE and may the best girl win!

Roberta Tyler
PEN SKETCH

Roberta Tyler is the person to fill the position of President of the McGill Women Students' Athletics Association. All her activities at McGill show her keen interest in athletics and qualify her for this position.

She has been Assistant Basketball Manager, and with this experience is well acquainted with the problems, activities, and needs of the managers and clubs. Roberta was also Intramural Representative for the basketball club, and in this capacity realizes the importance of the program and has an insight into the workings of it. The intramural program is probably one of the most important aspects of the athletic activity governed by the M.W.S.A.A. and Roberta was put in charge of it last year. She did an excellent job and participation and interest were high.

Berta has also taken an active part in the athletic clubs, like squash and field hockey, and she has played for three years on the Intercollegiate Basketball Team. Thus she is in a position to know about both the minor and major hawthorn and dogwood berries and then departed.

Doug Simpson
PEN SKETCH

Doug, a popular man among his fellow students, was educated in the Niagara District where he played Senior Football, Hockey, and Lacrosse, later playing in the O.R.F.U.

During the War he saw action over Europe as a Spitfire pilot, attaining the rank of F/L in the R.C.A.F.

Following his discharge he decided to enter McGill. While maintaining good grades, Doug has found time to act as Assistant Manager and Chief Flying Instructor of the Montreal Flying Club, thereby gaining valuable administrative experience. Although this has kept him busy, he has still managed to take an active interest in student affairs. Doug has long felt that the School of Commerce should play a more distinctive part on the Campus.

In endorsing Doug's nomination we feel that his experience, breadth of vision, and mature judgment will enable him to fulfill the many excellent plans outlined in his platform, to the ultimate benefit of students in all years.

Don Wallace
PEN SKETCH

Don was born in Montreal in 1928. He attended West Hill High School where he was Secretary of the Students' Council, a senior editor of the school Annual, as well as being active in Hi-Y, sports, and other activities. At McGill his organizational ability has been proven in several campus activities, notably on the Freshman Reception dances last fall, and on the executive of the New Year's Eve party in the Union. He has also held executive positions on various Forums during the past three years.

Don has made contacts with a great many campus clubs, groups, and executives through his work as Sports Editor of the McGill Annual. Last year he was very active in interfaculty debating, never having been defeated. We believe that Don has shown himself to be competent in managing student affairs, and that he will handle the position of President of the Commerce Undergraduate Society intelligently and faithfully.

Union House Committee to rectify the many defects throughout the Union.

This $5,000 should be used: First: to improve the kitchen facilities and lower the prices in the Grill-room. It is hoped that the Grill-room may offer the student the best quality foods at the lowest possible prices. Second: to redecorate the Reading and Ballroom. Third: to remodel the offices and clubrooms. Fourth: but not last, to lower the so-called rentals on rooms and halls.

At prevailing labor and material costs $5,000 is a small sum to offset the costs of these undertakings and those of the eventual renovation of the Union. If this sum could be augmented through a canvass of the graduates, say $1 per man, and I believe it can be, we could completely renovate the Union within the year.

This year we have witnessed an immense improvement in the allocation of dates through the Dates Committee. I have but one recommendation; a more thorough study of campus and city-wide activities and a decrease in the number of (financially unsuccessful) dances.

In conclusion let me assure that if I am elected, as president of your Union, I will do my utmost to make it one of the best on the continent with the materials at my disposal.

and member of the S.E.C., I shall list what I think are the essential issues in two parts: In the Union.

1. Price in the Grill Room could be reduced if we took the management out of the hands of a commercial enterprise and instead ran it as a non-profit co-operative with personnel to be hired through the McGill Placement Service. This would result in lower prices and some part-time jobs for students.

2. At present the service in the Grill Room is very inefficient. The queue would be more orderly and shorter if those who only want something to drink were able to make their purchases either at a special section of the counter or at both in the Reading Room which could operate during lunch hour.

3. There should be a suggestion-box in the Union Lobby which would make the Union House Committee more sensitive to student opinion.

In the S.E.C.:

1. Ensure that the fight for reduced student carfare goes beyond the talking stage and that McGill get into step with the French-Canadian students who have already whipped up a good campaign and want our co-operation.

2. All S.E.C. meetings should be open to all students.

3. I feel that the I. U. S. issue was dealt with without sufficient discussion both pro and con. I am still in favor of Canadian affiliation to I. U. S. as a means of promoting international student friendship and world peace.

If elected, I shall take into consideration suggestions from any quarter and will work with other members of the House Committee in a proper team-spirit.

kitchen facilities the Union food might be improved and the prices brought down. This would necessarily involve capital expenditures which should be met by the University authorities regardless of cost. As the registered owners of the building, under the Quebec Civil Code, such major expenditures which have been deemed as absolutely necessary by the Montreal Health Department, must be met by the University. This fact should be brought to their immediate attention.

Furthermore the second floor of the Union must be thoroughly cleaned up to make it look more like a students union, and less like a series of waiting rooms in a station. This can be done by cleaning up and painting the billiard hall, and by painting and refurbishing the front room. This room, with a little thought, could be turned into a comfortable and well-furnished lounge for the use of all students. The money for this may be obtained from a part of the additional $18,000 a year in revenue granted to the S.E.C. by the recent raise in Student Society fees, or by private contributions from friends of the University.

The spirit shown by Dawson College in the last five years has been tremendous, and this same spirit can be developed at McGill through a decent Union.

3. Second, third and fourth years should have their chance to make new contacts through a well-organized Monte-Carlo party, or similar event at the beginning of college.

4. To plan the buffet supper before or after another campus activity (football game) to insure greater attendance and to see if a canteen machine with paper cups would overcome the objection to bottles left lying around R.V.C.

5. To form a central dance decorations committee through the SEC to buy supplies in more economical quantities for individual societies and to gradually purchase, for rental, necessary lighting equipment, etc.

6. To continue successful activities such as the lecture series and act upon the excellent suggestions of the outgoing executive.

In conclusion may I say that I hope there will be a large turnout of voters to show an active interest in the Women's Union and that each voter will realize that no matter who is elected, the President of the Union cannot make the organization any stronger than the students who are behind it.

PLATFORM

I have an attitude and approach to campus life, as well as a platform. My position has been made clear the last few days. There must be—

1. Unhindered student activity in every field.

2. No reallocation of responsibility in student government which would deprive existing campus clubs of their independence.

3. The S.E.C. must continue to manage student funds, and not be replaced by a mass of bureaucratic boards, issuing sweeping edicts from above, threatening the spirit and every essence of our extra-curricular program.

4. The crux of the problem is to increase the level of student activity first. Today, 6,500 students are paying for the activities of 500. The mass of students do not seem to want to participate in activities on a campus wide level. Therefore the SEC must work with the undergraduate societies to organize activities on the faculty level—just as sports are run on an intramural as well as the intercollegiate plane. Canoe clubs, speaking groups, current events, chess checker and bridge games, political science groups and others could flourish on a faculty basis.

5. The Union presents a greater problem than where costs are to be hung and sandwiches eaten. We must present a brief to the University to elevate the Union from last place on the Building Program. It would be dangerous indeed to become satisfied with the slogan, "No new union for 25 years, therefore dress neatly in the old one!"

6. Book publishers refuse to sell to our University Bookstore if students obtain books there at any discount whatsoever. If we do nothing about it, we'll be paying the same price at our own store as we do now at Foleys. I have prepared a 2,000 word constitution for a book store on a profit sharing basis, based on the famous Princeton and Harvard plans. I am ready to present this to the University. I need your mandate to do so.

7. Political expression must continue at McGill, but must not be confused with student government. All political groups must abide by the constitutions under which they were formed.

8. I shall attend all meetings of the Student's Athletic Council and Athletics Board, with a view to increasing the co-operation between the SEC and the Athletics department.

If elected I shall carry out the platform outlined above, motivated by my belief that success or failure of student activities is not to be judged in terms of dollars and cents or mere "corporation efficiency" but by the enthusiasm and active participation of the greater number of students at McGill.

finite promises, I will outline what I will try to do.

The President of the Women's Union has, to my mind, a three-fold job:

1) To encourage the present Union activities, as well as the various clubs sponsored by the Union. One thing I would like to see is an extended Art Committee, sponsoring exhibitions of work by university undergraduates.

2) To introduce new activities. I will try my best to set up a date bureau in the Fall to help the upper years to "get started" again; to organize tournaments such as bridge between the resident and day students to help bring the two groups closer together; to install the long-awaited Coke machine in the Women's Union lounge, and try to raise money to start a fund for redecoration of the Arts Building Common Room.

3) To give the women just representation to the S.E.C. For instance, I will do my best to make sure that the one dollar per woman student paid as rent to the McGill Union is used for women's facilities. However, I realize that although I would be a women's representative on the Council, my duty would be to act for the good of all McGillites.

Generally speaking, my prime objective if elected will be to have a Women's Union which reaches out through some branch of its activities to each and every coed at McGill.

In accepting nomination for the position of President of the M.W.S.A.A., I wish to present the following platform. That if elected I will strive:

1. To assume the responsibilities of this office with enthusiasm and prompt attention to all duties and matters pertaining to the efficient functioning of the Association.
2. To increase participation by women students in athletics with particular attention to the widening of interest in beginner's activities and in the intra-mural program.

3. To co-operate to the utmost with Club Managers and be ready at all times to receive suggestions for the betterment of individual Clubs and the Association as a whole.

4. To create interest in the activities of the Association and improved service to Clubs through better understanding with The Daily and a defined system of obtaining publicity therein.

PLATFORM

My platform is based on two main points in connection with women's athletics:

1. At the present time, any amendments to the constitution of the M.W.S.A.A. must be published in The Daily one week before the Semi-Annual meeting. In the past, and especially this year when the constitution was greatly revised, this fact has caused the Council a large amount of trouble and expense. I believe this clause should be changed so that the proposed amendments may be posted in R.V.C. one week prior to the meeting and an announcement of this be placed in The Daily. This would save the M.W.S.A.A. the cost of printing every amendment.

2. If elected I shall try to arrange for closer co-operation between the M.W.S.A.A. and the women's sports editor of The Daily to give complete accurate coverage of women's sports events. I think that this will bring about more interest and participation in both the Intramural and Intercollegiate programs.

Finally, I would like to thank all those who nominated me for this position. If elected, I shall carry out all the duties of the president to the best of my ability.

PLATFORM

It is my firm belief that athletics at McGill will and should play an increasingly important role in the life of the Undergraduate; I therefore support the progressive University administration of athletics and feel that the following points must be stressed in moulding an effective athletics organization.

1) Required Athletics for all first year students, and provision of adequate facilities for the furtherance of this program.

2) That an indoor hockey rink does not exist at McGill is a major deficiency in the athletics program. I propose to push the building of this rink insofar as it is within the power as a representative of the students.

3) Team Managers would receive due recognition and prestige. This is at present lacking, and I shall attempt to remedy this situation, as to attract the most capable men as managers.

4) The present system of athletics awards leads more towards indifference than enthusiasm. Athletics should be uniform and significant; a tangible and dignified honour.

5) A consistent policy of grants to intra-mural teams, where outside equipment is needed, is required.

6) The present system of admitting students to inter-collegiate athletic events should be investigated.

Sports Views

by IRWIN GUTTMAN

With the publication of the Daily ending this Thursday, this is the last Sports Views Column of the year, and so with that fact in mind, we feel that it is a good time to sum up the hockey situation as it exists today and perhaps give out with some constructive criticism on the matter.

The rather obvious fact staring us in the face that the Redmen have won only two of their eleven games played so far. The reasons for that are many. One was the lack of experience in Senior company. Several times the McGills were leading their games, but costly mistakes due to bvious inexperience cost them the game.

The other reason is that most of the players are of Senior 'B' level, that is, better than Intermediate and good enough for third line material on what a good Senior team should be. Now, this lack of good material stems from many important reasons. The first is the lack of good teams in Intermediate and Junior levels. The Intermediate angle has been modified slightly this year, with the well-coached Beigler Braves, who seem headed for a championship in their league. But what of the players who just missed making the Intermediate team? They not only have no team to play on, except for the rather colourless Intramural league, but are pretty well discouraged from ever trying again. Many people minimize the importance of a Junior team, but they should realize that three players on the Senior team came from Junior to Intermediate to the Redmen ranks in the persons of Bob Russell, Arne "Dempsey" Taylor and the injured Ross Parsons. And so our first recommendation is the establishment of a Junior team, which would improve the calibre of our Intermediate and eventually our Senior team.

We also feel that the powers that be are not allowing team spirit to manifest itself when they allow before-game training table conditions to degenerate into the state they are in now. Frankly speaking, the hockey training table is so depressing that several players have indicated to this observer that they'd rather not attend, and most of them don't.

In fact, the whole spirit of the hockey setup, as far as training table and equipment conditions are concerned, is so different from other teams that many McGills just don't turn out for this sport, because it isn't made enjoyable for them to do so. Perhaps, if the new arena plans were put into operation in the near future, these conditions would be vastly improved, but if not, they should be looked into seriously.

And for our last suggestion, we would like to recommend a little more publicity for this sport from the Athletics Office. We think that

If those concerned would try to stimulate interest in the city papers, as was done so excellently for football, a good city crowd would definitely be assured for the games. The matter of Pep Rallies for hockey seems to have escaped everybody's mind, but a little prodding on behalf of the Athletics Department could remedy the situation.

All in all, we believe sincerely that more interest in hockey, a major sport which is extremely well liked at McGill, could be shown by those who are concerned with Intercollegiate sports at McGill.

We were extremely disappointed in the C.R.U. meeting held in Toronto last week-end, as we consider that the meeting didn't accomplish much to improve Canadian football. Proposals by the Intercollegiate Union were turned down flatly. And so we wonder if the statement in Dink Carroll's column has an underlying meaning to it. Said Mr. Carroll in commenting on whether the CIAU rule changes should have been adopted: "... but the C.R.U. Rules Committee is so slow to introduce obvious improvements that the college Union might provide some leadership if it broke away (from the C.R.U.)."

Now there is more to that statement than meets the eye. If the colleges broke away from the C.R.U. and used its own rules, possibly, and only possibly, might the other football unions who are connected with the CRU try to break away and follow the same changes. But the C.R.U. is still a powerful group, and so what might tend to happen is that all football would be played the Canadian way with one exception, the College Union, definitely not a desirable thing for the future of Intercollegiate Football.

But the good point about this move, if it were to be undertaken, would be the necessity of forming a CIAU staff of officials. They would finally be responsible to the CIAU league, required to pass certain examinations, and handle college games only. This is an important point as the difference between handling a Big Four game, for example, is vastly different than handling a Collegiate game.

Engineering Diehards defeated a hard fighting Phys Ed crew in the Intramural 'B' League final at the McTavish street rink last night by an 8-2 score. The game was fast all the way with the more experienced Engineering team led by former Senior Redman Chuck Hayward coming out on top.

Hayward scored three of the Engineers eight goals, while another onetime Campbell clan member, Bob Payette added two others. Mooney was the two goal man for the Diehards with Knubley putting the game away for the Plumbers.

Ten Universities Enter St. Sauveur Ski Meet

By ALLAN MAGONET

Skiing will hold the limelight on the weekend as McGill plays host to nine other colleges and universities in the annual C.I.A.U. ski meet being held at St. Sauveur. Competing in the meet will be teams from Laval, University of New Brunswick, University of Montreal, Ottawa U., Carleton College, Queen's, University of Toronto, St. George Williams College, and Loyola College.

McGill has been successful in winning the meet for the past three years and will again endeavour to keep the University of Montreal Trophy which is emblematic of C.I.A.U. skiing supremacy. The trophy, which was donated by the U. of M. three years ago, is awarded annually to the team with the highest number of points in the four events combined. Coach Vic Allen is set on retaining the trophy and will send out his strongest team for the meet.

Competition will get under way Friday morning with the downhill events being run off. Laval and the U. of M. along with McGill have powerful squads and the competition is expected to be very keen. Slalom takes over in the afternoon with the events being held on Hill 70.

Saturday morning will see the jumping enthusiasts take to the hills. A ninety foot snow jump is being built by Mr. H. Smith Johennsen at St. Sauveur. Mr. Johennsen has also been instrumental in laying out the seven mile cross-country course which will be used in the afternoon. The seven mile grind will start at Nymark's Lodge, which will be headquarters for the meet, and will also end there.

The meet will come to an official close Saturday evening when a banquet will be held at the lodge. The winners of the various events will be presented with their prizes with the highlight of the evening being the presentation of the University of Montreal Trophy.

Reliable Boyd Whittall is in charge of the meet with Murray Williams acting as chief of officials. The chiefs of the course are H. Smith Johennsen and Fernand Trolter with Mike Ellwood and John Millen acting as judges. The chief jumping judge is W. T. Pickering with the trial conditioning being taken care of by Carey Stead. Thanks are due to the T. Eaton Company for donating a pair of Hovde skis and telescopic poles and to Henry Morgan Company for donating a pair of ski boots. These, along with medals and beer steins, are among the prizes that will be awarded to the winners. The numbers for the races have been graciously donated by Philmac Clothing.

Badminton Tournament For Tonight

The second McGill's Senior Singles Men's Badminton tournament begins Tuesday night, February 28 at 7.30 p.m. in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. The rules are as follows:

1. Each round winner is determined by total points in 2 straight games. Straight means first player reaching 15 wins the game or 15-11 wins.
2. Wood shots do not count.—If the bird strikes any wood part of your racket, you lose the point automatically.

3. If you are more than 15 minutes late for your match, you lose by default.

4. As many rounds as possible should be played Tuesday night.

5. Future matches after the first round will be arranged at the convenience of the participants.

6. 'A' plays against 'B'. 'A' serves the first game. 'B' serves the second game or vice versa.

McGill Takes Brace From Dawson Squads

By FRED GOTTHEIL

The Moyse Boys came through in championship fashion last night to down the Dawson Kigmlies by a 7-3 count, taking the first tilt of a two game, total-point series for the Dawson-McGill Floor Hockey Championship. The final game will be played at Dawson next Monday night.

The locals had the upper hand all the way through and held the play as indicated by the score. Wheeler was the top goal-getter for the Moyse crew pulling the hat trick while Szabo tallied twice.

The game got off to a fast clip as the Moyse Boys took a 2-0 lead midway through the first period with Wheeler accounting for both markers.

The Dawson Kigmlies retaliated in the latter stages of the period with Leslie scoring on a close-in shot to put the Dawson squad on the scoring column. The period ended in a 2-1 count for the locals.

In the second canto, the Moyse Boys tallied again with Wilcox flashing the red light for the third McGill counter.

Seconds later, the Boys pressed in on goal and Szabo let loose with a centre ice shot which caught the upper left hand corner of the cage, furthering the McGill lead to 4-1.

SPORTS PROFILE

Bud Fraser

by Cy Lewis

One of the big surprises of the current basketball season has been the sensational 'showing' of lanky Bud Fraser. The big fellow—he's six feet four inches tall—has been averaging ten points or better per game and has been the backbone of this year's squad. Bud has been cited as being the most improved player in both the M.B.L. and C.I.A.U. leagues.

Let's take a closer look at this sensation of two leagues. Arthur John Fraser, to give him his full name, is the product of Bridge water, a small town way down east in Nova Scotia with a population of some thirty-five hundred people. He grew up and received all of his preliminary education there, attending Bridgewater High, where he was an all-around athlete, winning letters in Baseball, Hockey, Track, and Basketball. He graduated in 1940.

The second edition of the war to end all wars had just started then and so Bud traipsed himself off to the nearest recruiting office on graduation and joined the Air Force. He won his pilot's wings and was sent overseas, spending two years in India. He was discharged in forty-six with the rank of Flying Officer.

1946 was a big year for Bud as it not only saw him leave the Air Force and come to McGill but in that year he also deserted the ranks of the Benedicts and got himself married. His wife, Ella, a Montrealer, and a darned good looking one, can be seen and heard at all of the Redmen's home games cheering him on, although as she has been heard to say, she is his severest critic. She occasionally goes on the trips with the team and was in Toronto when the Redmen trined the Blues last month. They have a son who is two and a half years old.

Bud entered the faculty of Physical Education here and is presently in his last year. He has played for the Senior Redmen every year since he entered and was also on the Intermediate track team for three years. However, as we have noted above, this has been his best year so far and he has led the team in scoring in more than one game. He's really finishing off in a blaze of glory.

Sports has not been his only activity here and Bud has been very active in Intra-Mural Sports administration having served as a member on the Intra-Mural Athletics Council last year and is president this year. As president of the IMAC he is also a member of the SAC, the governing board of all student athletics.

As to his plans for the future, Bud is still undecided but he hopes to go into recreation work of some sort. When asked about the game or incident that gave him his biggest thrill in a Red and White uniform, he recalled the Clarkson game played here last year, when an underdog McGill team nearly upset a highly favored Clarkson quintet. That the Redmen lost by one point was no fault of Bud's as the thin man netted himself thirteen points that night. It was also one of the most thrilling games that this observer ever watched and we quite agree with Bud that it was a game to remember.

Just to show that his talents don't run to playing and administration alone,

Notice to Graduating Students in Science, Engineering, Architecture

All men and women who expect to graduate in Science or Engineering in 1950 should fill in without delay the questionnaire issued by the Bureau of Technical Personnel (Department of Labour of Canada). Science students may obtain these forms in the Registrar's Office, Dawson Hall; Engineering students in the Dean's Office, Engineering Building; and Architecture students in the Director's Office.

tinguished from the rest of the students in the Arts Building, and the Faculty as a whole to stand out from the rest of the student body on the Campus. I plan to make available Faculty pins and ties, using the Faculty colours and emblem.

2) I would like to reinstate the previously popular Society banquets for which suitable speakers, or entertainers, would be chosen to provide an enjoyable evening.

3) I shall continue tours to industrial plants of specific interest arranged at times when students of all years would be free to attend.

4) Now that the A.S.C. Ball is no longer to be held, I plan to organize a Faculty Ball of our own, and I will take every step to ensure that it is a major social success.

5) To reacquire our former prestige in athletics, I intend to encourage greater participation in inter-mural sports by implementing an award to the outstanding commerce athlete of the year, to be presented at a Commerce Smoker.

6) I would like to plan more "gen" nights, as these meetings with prominent businessmen are of great value in increasing the student's knowledge of practical business.

In summation, I will do everything in my power to ensure a happy and successful year for every Commerce Undergraduate.

year, and it is the duty of the executive to see that the students get full value for this money. I promise to do this to the limit of my ability.

The main points in my platform are as follows:

(1) Probably the most important function of the Society is that of arranging company tours. I intend to extend this series of excellent tours to include a wider representation of businesses of interest to Commerce men.

(2) Smokers. As regards Smokers, I feel certain we could manage two a year instead of the traditional one. I also have means at my disposal for improving the calibre of entertainment at these functions.

(3) My executive will not operate in a silent and mysterious way, but will publicize its meetings and activities. Our society is at present probably the least publicized

Undergrad Society on the campus.

(4) Dances. The number of financially unsuccessful dances on the campus this year has been nothing short of amazing. Due to my experience on seven major dance committees, I am familiar with the various pitfalls that exist. I will not, in the future, let our Society be led into any financial fiasco; and in any joint activities with the Arts & Science Undergraduate Society, our Society will NOT play the role of a sleeping partner, but will participate actively.

(5) With the employment situation tightening up on all sides, the Gen Nite begins to assume importance. It has never had before. The interest shown in the sole Gen Nite we had this year indicated a pressing need for more.

PLATFORM

The athletics board is the controlling body for athletics at McGill. It is made up of three representatives appointed by the Graduates' Society, three members of the faculty, appointed by the Senate, and three students. The latter group includes the president of the S.A.C., the S.E.C. and one elected student. Thus it can be seen that a strong representation of the students is needed.

Intramurals: I feel that every student should have an opportunity to participate in some form of athletics. Therefore, I support a strong, well set up intra-mural system. I advocate a full well-developed budget with a fair share of the funds to revery team.

Athletics Night and Winter Carnival: These events not only give minor sports a great opportunity for competition, but also provide a large number of students with an excellent chance to gain administrative experience. This also serves to raise the spirit around the campus, and I would back these organizations fully.

Band: It has been seen that an improvement in the band is necessary, and I would wholeheartedly endorse a programme of reorganization and continued improvement. I would support an increased budget and would investigate the possibilities of new uniforms.

Compulsory Athletics: There has been much talk of a compulsory athletic programme and I would look into the problem thoroughly. Freshman Activities: I fully advocate a policy whereby freshmen would have a chance to get started in campus activities. Not only would it increase his self-respect, but also would mean a continuous stream of experienced men for the executive positions in later years.

New Gym: With the increased space provided by the new gym, I would follow a programme which would include immediate and active student participation in the swimming pool, and the increased number of squash courts.

combustion chamber through a smoothing tank. There the second injection of fuel takes place and the combustion process begins. This is the present interest of Professor Mordell and his assistants, they watch the process through transparent glass plates on the sides of the pipes, noting the characteristics of combustion in the various gases used. The gases which turn the pipe-like combustion chamber red hat and have charred surrounding walls have some of their heat taken by water pumped in for the purpose and are allowed to escape through a chimney.

This is the first in a long series of experiments which the laboratory is planning. There is room for expansion in the Drill Hall, and as support increases, expansion will increase. Far as the lab has come in the past year there is still plenty about the colorful stories and legends that centre around R.V.C. Most girls seem quite happy at the College for, as one co-ed put it, "we have a much better time here than we would if we had to live on our own, alone in a strange city."

Near midnight on Sunday we had the opportunity of talking with Mr. Mew, an R.V.C. employee for seven years, who was looking after the "leaves book" that night. As Mr. Mew and I talked over College life, breathless co-eds rushed in, glanced furtively at the old master-clock, and dashed over to sign the book. On Sunday, we learned, all the girls must be in by midnight. We discovered one thing that score at the end of the period 5-2.

In the last stanza, the McGill squad turned on the heat and showered the Dawson twine with shot after shot but the Kilmie goalies rose to great heights turning down several Moysse Boy's "sure" goals.

At the midway in the period, Szabo tallied his second marker on a blue line drive putting the locals ahead 6-2. High flying Wheeler made it 7-2 minutes later firing a screen shot from centre which found the bottom corner.

The Dawsonites rounded out the scoring in the last minute of play as Urquhart singled, making the final score read 7-3.

In the other Dawson-McGill game, an exhibition fixture between the two runners-up, the McGill Bearcats defeated the Chapeau de Nuit by a 6-3 overtime score.

The Bearcats came from behind a 3-1 set-back in the third period to tie it up 3-3 and went ahead 6-3 in the ten minutes of overtime.

The teams battled to a 1-1 tie at the end of the first period with Harvie scoring for the Cats while Turner got the credit for the Dawsonites.

Turner got his second goal of the night early in the second frame on a close-in shot putting the Chapeau de Nuit crew in a 2-1 lead throughout the period.

The visitors scored again in the third canto lengthening their lead to a 3-1 count.

The Bearcats came to life in the latter part of the period, and with only two minutes left in the game, tallied twice on goals by LaRose and MacDonald.

The Teams went into overtime in which the red-hot Cats entirely dominated the play racking up another three markers. Hamel, More and Gauthier accounted for the three overtime goals.
